Corrigenda and Errata

In Volume XX (2019) Laura Chmielewski's biography should have read as follows:

Laura M. Chmielewski is an associate professor of History at the State University of New York at Purchase, where she teaches early American, Atlantic World, and public history. She received her PhD from the City University of New York. Laura is the author of The Spice of Popery: Converging Christianities on an Early American Frontier (U of Notre Dame Press, 2011), The Atlantic Experience: People, Places, Ideas (with Catherine M. Armstrong; Palgrave McMillan, 2014), and Jacques Marquette and Louis Jolliet: Exploration, Encounter, and the French New World (Routledge/Taylor & Francis, 2017), as well as several book chapters and anthologized essays. She has served as Historian in Residence at History Hudson Valley, a consortium of historic properties in southeastern New York State, and reviews books for America magazine, the national Jesuit periodical. Her current scholarly project is a study of the intersections of early American religion and maritime commerce.

Some of the endnotes in Mikeal Parson's article, "From Harvard's Semitic Museum to Mount Desert Island and Back" were incorrectly numbered. You can find a corrected version of the article at www.mdihistory.org/chebacco.

"Shout-out to the typos that make it through three rounds of content edits, copyedits, and two rounds of proofreading. I am inspired by your dedication and tenacity."

In Volume XI (2011) on page 66 in "John Gilley fell at the Battle of the Wilderness," we refer to HMS Tenedos as a privateer. In fact, HMS Tenedos was a Royal Navy ship.
