

Corrigenda and Errata

Our goal is to make Chebacco as accurate a source of historical information as possible. Accordingly, we try to correct any errors we discover or that are brought to our attention, and we welcome all comments from our readers. We regret any errors that do appear and appreciate the readers who point them out to us.

In the “Introduction” to Chebacco XVI (2015), we referred to the author of the poem “La Maison d’Or,” Oliver Wendell Holmes, as “the great jurist.” Actually, the poem’s author was Oliver Wendell Holmes Sr. (1809-1894), the father of Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. (1831-1945).

Due to a design error, a line was inadvertently dropped from the article “From Wealth to Poverty: The Rise and Fall of Cod around Mount Desert Island” by Natalie Springuel, Bill Leavenworth, and Karen Alexander. The first paragraph on page 72 should have read:

Although some crewmen were professional fishermen who worked out of other ports when the cod season was over, most had other professions. Only 22 percent of the 2,000 fishermen listed as crew in Frenchman Bay District logs were listed as “fishermen” in federal census records; 27 percent were schoolboys. The rest practiced 70 different occupations, but most were farmers, sailors, carpenters, and artisans.

The complete and corrected article is now published online at:
<http://mdihistory.org/wp-content/uploads/N.SpringuelLayout.pdf>